Trading Technologies Opens Swiss Office

9 January 2007

Trading software company Trading Technologies International Inc, based in Illinois, has announced the opening of a sales office in Geneva, Switzerland.

"As banks, hedge funds and other asset management firms continue to expand their trading operations, it is critical that Trading Technologies be positioned to serve them with speed and efficiency. Our local presence in Geneva will enable us to meet strong, increasing demand for our products and best support our customers there," said Tim Geannopoulos, Executive Vice President Global Sales.

The new office will provide electronic trading software and technology solutions to hedge funds, banks and other trading groups in the region, and will report to Steve Stewart, Managing Director of Sales in the London office.
